Mr. & Mrs. C. Graunke Card Parties at the Honored On Silver Wedding Anniversary

On the evening of Valentine's Day February 14, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graunke with their only daughter Ellen, sat quietly in their home reminiscing and recalling their wedding which took place in Edmonton just 25 years ago. Some forty friends wended their way to the Graunke home to surprise this popular couple on this memorable occasion, their Silver Wedding Anniversary.

A most enjoyable evening was spent singing all the old songs, with Mrs. Telford at the piano. During the course of the evening a "Log Book" was passed around for all to sign. Anniversary cards, messages and gifts received during the day were shown the guests by the happy couple.

A sumptuous lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Leggett, Robinson, Tury, Carl, Patterson, McGregor and Mitchell. The servers were the Misses Pivits Hall, Ellen Graunke and Mrs. Rosalie Taylor.

The beautiful wedding cake made and decorated at Avery's Bakery, was out by the bride at 2:30 p.m.

In his most fitting manner Mr. Lorne Mitchell on behalf of the many friends present and also those unable to attend, presented the guests of honor with a silver cake compass.

Both Linda and Charlie thanked their many friends for such a pleasant surprise and most enjoyable Anniversary.

Mr. Wallace Carl then took several pictures of the Graunke family, after which the crowd dispersed, having spent a pleasant and happy evening and expressing their wishes to their friends for many more years of wedded bliss together. —Con.

FARMERS TO GET MORE "TAKE HOME PAY"

Last week it was announced through the facilities of the Canadian Press, that Ottawa was going to inject into the commercial stream of trade in Western Canada the sum of 200 million dollars. This is a result of the increases in the price of wheat which is expected to take place shortly and will be retroactive to 1945. This amount while small per bushel of wheat, only amounting to 25c per bushel, will be most welcomed. While nothing is yet definite on the amount, as it is stated above, it is expected to be at least 25c, which will boost the price of wheat from its present $1.35 to $1.60.

Saskatchewan, because of its great wheat producing record, will receive the major share of this money—$105,329,882. Alberta second with $59,749,284 and Manitoba third for $26,180,256.

One has only to glance at the figures to see that this circulation of new money will mean a great deal to Western Canada. Coming at a time when the spending of money has slowed just a bit it will certainly be a shot in the arm to western business. What this will mean in new farm implements, cars, trucks, clothing, food, etc. one can only guess but it is apt to be substantial.

For some time past farmers and farm organizations have been seeking higher prices for their grain products, wheat in particular, as it is a controlled commodity with the Wheat Board of Ottawa setting the price from time to time. It is gratifying to see that this step will be taken and it should go a long way to improving the lot of the farmer in rural western Canada. Yes it adds up to more "take home pay for the farmer," and no one can deny that he doesn't need it.

CHILDREN SHOULD COME FIRST

Whether it be your children or whether it be mine, child ren should be the prime consideration of everyone. At this time there is an appeal from Canada for the children of war torn Europe. The goal in this appeal is 10 million dollars and will be spent on food and educational facilities which is ever important to the life of every child. Europe was left at the close of World War II a ravaged place with nothing stable. Families were separated, parents were killed, schools were ruined. All this will take time and money to heal the wounds, but at the present the most urgent need is for food. Europe has not recovered to its standing of pre-war days and it is the children that are bearing the brunt of the attack. They are the ones that are going hungry, doing without clothing, walking bare footed. The citizens of Canada have always been so open hearted in the past it is not likely they will turn a deaf ear on this appeal. Donations may be left with the banks in the towns and communities surrounding Wainwright. The teller in the cage will be glad to assist you in your donation.

The receipts are official as an income deduction for income tax purposes. Any way you add it up you can't lose by aiding the children now. Why not drop into the bank soon. Some lucky child will receive a real meal, maybe for the first time in its life, through your kindness.

INCOME TAX AT HAND

Now that all the goodwill of Christmas has been attended to, people can address themselves to income tax which is the next big occasion in their lives. But there isn't much peace and goodwill surrounding income tax payments.

This week the new forms for farmers are being let loose on the west, and it is quite safe to say that when these forms are first sighted, many a farmer will blow a fuse. There is a six page confessional, and the answers to the questions will lay bare the most intimate details of the individual's life. There are columns in which he tells exactly the cash, bonds and such assets that he had in 1946, and how he has increased or decreased by the end of 1947. He must tell what he has in bin and how much it is worth. He gives a detailed financial statement of all his assets and all his liabilities. He has to try to put a value on all his stock and so on, which in itself is a difficult matter with fluctuation in prices. It is the searching nature of all the question which will cause so much trouble to a business in which so many figures are approximate. The coming months, which are fairly busy in the farm world, are likely to be devoted to stocktaking.

It is noted that the forms being released are "For Use of Prairie Farmers." It would be interesting to learn why they are so specified. Are they different in any important respect from the forms for farmers of eastern provinces?

It is doubtful if the income tax hits farmers of the older provinces as severely as it does those on the prairies, otherwise there would be more vocal protest from the east. For one thing the farms are much smaller, and the gross income probably smaller. But it is doubtful if the general run of farmers in the east started with the heavy overhang of debt, which has been the unfortunate handicap of the west. It is only in very recent years that the prairie farmer has been able to recoup the heavy losses and setbacks of the thirties. He has made good use of the years of profitable production, but the excess profits

by ottawa observer

There is marked interest here in the new regulations of the British government calling for a freezing of wages and profits—a freezing of all incomes apparently at today's levels except under exceptional circumstances or in the achievement of greater production.

For some time there has been controversy among writers and observers on the real situation in Britain. Socialists have been pointing to conditions in Britain as something that Canada should copy. While those who return from visits to Britain maintain that wage scales are much lower there than in Canada, and the standard of living of all the people is far below that which we enjoy. Mr. Attlee's plea for drastic voluntary action to "combat spiralling prices" seems to confirm the statements of the latter.

As this is written the reaction of the British Trade unions is being closely watched. In parliament Mr. Bradette, M.P. from Northern Ontario strongly criticized the C.C.F. party for its habit of continually decrying everything done in Canada by Canadians and pointing to other countries as examples which we should follow. Without exception the other countries, with socialist governments, have lower standards of living than Canada.

Trade agreements taking effect

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, negotiated at Geneva, has been brought into force provisionally by Canada and the following eight countries: Australia; the Benelux Union, consisting of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg; Cuba; France; the United Kingdom, and the United States. Canada has brought into effect, as of January 1, 1948 the rates agreed to at Geneva. Under the provisions of Article XXVII of the General Agreement, however, those concessions granted to countries which have not yet put the new Geneva schedules into effect are withheld for the time being. The new seasonal specific duties on certain fresh fruits and vegetables and the new 15 per cent rate on tinplate imported from British countries will require legislative action before becoming effective.

Other countries which participated in the Geneva negotiations have until June 30, 1948, to give provisional effect to the General Agreement. These countries are: Brazil, Burma, Ceylon, Chile, China, Czechoslovakia, India, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Southern Rhodesia, the Syrian-Lebanese Customs Union, and the Union of South Africa.

Students of Canada's economy are satisfied that the new plans for Canada which are in charge of Finance Minister Abbott and Trade Minister Howe will bring about a permanent change in the direction of our external trade. For this reason the effect of the Geneva Agreements will be watched closely.

Echoes from Parliament

Mr. Knowles (C.C.F.): While the minister is tabling those figures, would he table the figures showing dollars and cents, as well.

Mr. Mitchell (Liberal): A great many things have been said by the opposition about hon. members on the government side, and many things have been said by hon. members on the government side about the opposition. To listen to my hon. friend the member for Winnipeg North Centre, who thrives on misery, one would think this was a land of desolation. Let me say this to him, that he has tax has hampered him, as it has hampered expansion of all business.

Although these new larger tax forms will be a bewildering and a grief to the farm population, the farmers are not alone. Others in other types of business or on modest salaries all find the vexations and the burdens imposed intolerable.

The cancellation of subsidies has enriched the government, but is impoverishing the people through the consequent higher cost of living. There has been no recognition of the doubled cost of living and government obligation to the taxpayer by raising basic exemptions.

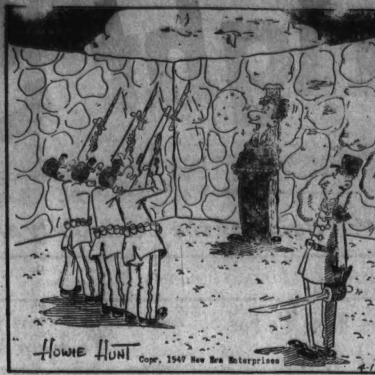

There is no excuse for the long delay in getting clearance on income tax payments of past years. The demand for income tax payment is kept up to the minute, and 7% interest is the penalty for laxity in payment. But the government takes its own good time in making adjustments or clearing up loose ends. And there is no interest on long delayed refund payments.

Taxpayers are a long suffering lot, unorganized, ill-equipped for effective protest. But the imposition of income tax is a very one-sided proposition, so unfair in many respects that eventually the patient public may revolt.

NIGHT JOURNEY

Mothers rise at dawn of night
In fear of blankets not quite tight
"I think I heard a sound" they say,
And softly move across the way.
To stand by children breathing deep,
(Now I lay me down to sleep)
And smooth the rumpled strands of hair

Tonight, when you are watching these
Think on these—on children's faces
In the bitter, barren places
Where these other mothers stay
In silent vigil, while they pray
"Not tonight, Lord, 'Tis him lay."
(Now I lay me down to die.)
Can you sleep, who hear their cry?

The Faith Of A Family Endures

To enjoy the good in daily lives, the family group has learned the worth of spiritual values and how to benefit by them. Religion and family go hand in hand through life, as each must practise love and co-operation, and each is bound together by ties that are more than earthly.

To get the most out of life, bring your family to the church of your faith regularly. Your service there is a service to mankind, and the lessons you learn there will benefit your fellow men and women.

As your Editorial stated that all the area to the East of Wainwright is now in the Hospital District (excepting 3 townships which are in Provost Hospital District No. 12) with the exception of Edgerton and Chauvin, and if the value of assessment of these two Villages are worth anything to the Hospital District then the Wainwright Hospital Board should be the ones to crusade, and not the Wainwright Star with an Editorial.

Yours,
CHAS. WILBRAHAM.

Health to be included in the Wainwright Municipal Hospital District No. 17, and your Editorial does not appear to be a sales talk, by stating strictly within the scope of your heading, "Hospital Financing" by giving your readers facts and figures, instead of a "Bunga Bunga" a better understanding may have been accomplished.

It is unfortunate that the Hospital Trustees do not enlighten their ratepayers by publishing an Auditor's Financial Statement in detail instead of a very much condensed statement on the back page of the Municipal Districts yearly report, however, they were good enough to have your paper publish their minutes of 16th January 1948, showing in detail what they expected to spend in 1948 and what the Contributing Corporations will be requisitioned, and what they must pay every three months, regardless of the ratepayers ability to pay.

In the first paragraph of your Editorial headed "Hospital Financing" you stated that the new hospital addition was progressing according to, or better than schedule, but did you Mr. Editor while browsing over the estimated receipts notice an item of $51,000.00 Sale of Balance of Debentures, which at this date are not sold and little hope of being sold for some time, and if they are, will be at a large discount. The new addition to the hospital cannot be finished on a "promise to pay" but "cash on the barrel."

Passing judgement on our friendly Villagers to the East for not buying a "Pig in a Poke" or criticizing the Irma Hospital District because they jockeyed to a favorable position is unbecoming to the 4th estate. The advertised minutes of the Hospital Board of the 16 January, 1948, brings to light that the minimum hospital tax has been boosted from $4.00 to $9.00 which might suggest that Villagers with a moderate assessment on dwellings and businesses are on the prohibited list.

I visited there in 1945 with Gabby Chartrand, a Montrealer who had spent six months in Paris during the German occupation, as a member of our intelligence Corps. He knew the city well, very, very well.

After seeing the usual sights, Versailles, Arc de Triomphe, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Champs d'Elysees, I was bursting for a glimpse at the world-famed night life of Paris.

We saw Paris by night. I don't imagine it was the same as it was before the war, but still, it was a lot of food and heat the Parisians managed to keep an air of gaiety that we in our North American, stolidness can never imitate.

We visited the Montmartre and Pig alley. At every moment I was expecting the Montmartre to see some Humphrey Bogart character creep out of the shadows with a striped sweater and pulled-down cap and a knife in his teeth.

We didn't see the character but we came pretty close to it. Just as we were about to enter our fifth cafe a little old man sidled up from nowhere and in a croaky voice whispered confidentially to us, "M'sieurs, you see dat fella over there? We looked and sure enough there was a queer looking gink, lounging against a street pole and eyeing us."

The little old man continued, "Den, if you are wise you weel geeve him two hundred franc now, and den he weel know dat you are good guy and later if you get a little zigzag, den he weel not strangle you." And with that he dramatically drew his hands across his throat.

We solemnly informed our well-wishing friend that as Gabby was the champion wrestler of the Canadian Army and I was the chief hangman, we knew a little about "strangling" so if he didn't mind we would invest our three hundred francs in jole de vivre instead. But we would be glad to meet them professionally later. A few hours afterwards we went looking for our friends but apparently the chief "strangler" had decided that the "strangling" business was not so hot that evening.

Yes, you can see anything in Paris I even remember in one bistro we ran into a girl with flaming green hair, purple eyelids and orange finger nails. Parisian girls? Well, that's a natural question. They're exotic and ex-

Human Interest Stories

By Douglas W. Smith
Public Relations Officer,

Oliver Delville is a good friend of mine, a true Frenchman and a Paraisien, from the top of his brilliant head down to his pointed shoes. Recently when we were sipping a demitasse of after dinner coffee spiked with Napoleon brandy in the study of his home in Ottawa he threw his hands into the air and in a tone of despair shouted, "Ah Paris, my Paris, what are those cursed Communists doing to you? Strife, strife, strife is all I can read about."

To a remote reader his actions might seem harmless and his expressions hackneyed. But the true Parisien is often dramatic in his ways and he loves Paris with a fervor that has to be seen to be understood.

I like Paris also. I don't suppose there is anyone with any sensibilities who has visited this glistening city who could help but feel impressed. London is attractive in a sombre way, but as soon as you enter the outskirts of Paris you get a lift that is not describable, you just get it. The city is beautiful beyond comparison.

I visited there in 1945 with Gabby Chartrand, a Montrealer who had spent six months in Paris during the German occupation, as a member of our intelligence Corps. He knew the city well, very, very well.

After seeing the usual sights, Versailles, Arc de Triomphe, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Champs d'Elysees, I was bursting for a glimpse at the world-famed night life of Paris.

iting to the nth degree. They have a love life, like frosted icing on angel vivacity unqualified by any other cake, a little too rich for a steady race of hip swingers. But they're diet. I'll take a wholesome Canadian strictly desert on the menu of our roast beef dish anyway.

CONTINUATION OF

day saw the semi-final between Chandler of Ribstone and Melanowski of Chauvin, the latter winning by the scant margin of 7-6 and it was even closer than the score would indicate.

Little Chandler a pint-sized lad who weighs only slightly more than one of the rocks he was throwing skipped his rink with skill and poise that belied his years, evidence that he has been a mighty attentive observer of the game. The spectators were certainly with him all the way.

At the end of the fourth the game was tied in a knot at 3 all. Melanowski coming through with a great last rock shot taking out two of Chandler's stones and lying two himself. Again in the sixth he almost broke up the game with four, but Chandler came back with a singleton in the seventh to make the board read 7-5 and set the stage for a dramatic finish.

The Melanowski at this time appeared to become jittery and rock after rock went through the house. Chandler shipping coolly and carefully nursed six rocks into the house and when Melanowski who had last rock went down to throw it he had lost seven of his own and faced the possibility of a disastrous six against him. He appeared to be light in his throw but some vigorous sweeping gave it just enough to nudge the shot rock a shade closer to the button and leave his own to cut out the other five. At that the measuring rod was brought out for the second shot. It was that close.

At the conclusion Mrs. S. D. Simonson in a short speech presented the prizes to the victors.

SPORT SHOTS

Prizes were donated by the following: Ladies Curling Club; A.T.A.; Messrs. Simonson and Griffiths. The Wainwright teachers salvaged some prestige when they defeated the out-of-town teachers in a closely fought game 8 to 7.

Overheard from a cute young thing at the back: "Gee! I hope nobody saw me move that last rock closer with my broom."

Who was the individual who rushed out on the ice to give some advice to a skip in one of the finals? Let's let the kids play their own game.

A vote of thanks to Dad Rustland—the most interested and busiest individual at the rink. Famous last words: "Gimme a little more ice. I think I'm wide."

Tory Sales and Service To Open New Premises February 20th

Rising from what once was an old hotel basement, stands the new Tory Sales and Service building, located on the corner of 2nd Avenue and Queen Street in Wainwright. This new building is ultra smart and has been designed by the owner, Mr. L. C. Tory, as the new home of Tory Sales and Service.

Mr. Tory was granted the Mercury-Lincoln franchise early last fall, and feeling the need for larger quarters started immediately erecting this new building so that the many car and truck owners in the district could be assured of a complete service in their requirements. The building progressed favorably during the fall and early winter, and due to favorable weather its early completion was assured. The official opening of this new business place can be best described as another milestone in the business of the firm. The garage is a modern building extending 80 feet along 2nd Avenue and 50 back along Queen Street. It is complete with rest room and wash room facilities for the motoring public and office staff, being fully modern with hot and cold running water. The building is divided into two parts, the front

Open Letter to M.L.A.s

Dear Sir or Madam:
The Alberta Educational Council wishes to express the appreciation of its member organizations for the increased Provincial grants to education resulting from the action of the Legislature at its last session.

At the same time it is necessary to point out that the increased costs of operating schools during the current year are such that local boards are experiencing great difficulty in meeting them. It is not out of place to reiterate that local taxes have reached a dangerously high level, and that additional revenue from such sources cannot be expected. In many divisions the school bus has added heavy capital and operational costs to an already heavy financial load, and a huge building program, urgent though it is, has had to be postponed. It cannot wait much longer.

Today hundreds of schools are without qualified teachers. It is essential that everything possible be done to right this situation. Among the factors to be considered in this respect are:

- Salaries adequate to attract and hold the most capable people;
- Substitution of an adequate provincial salary schedule for the more than 200 individual schedules at present in operation;
- The establishment of a satisfactory pension scheme;
- The provision of good teacherages, where necessary.

All of these involve increased expenditures which it is impossible to meet from the proceeds of a direct tax on real property. We therefore ask you to support and to campaign for school grants which will meet at least 50% of the cost of elementary and secondary education.

The children of our Province are our greatest asset. They must be educated to assume and discharge the responsibilities that will soon be theirs. We have no hesitation, therefore, in asking your assistance in

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE TOWN OF WAINWRIGHT

Being situated as it is, Wainwright should be the trading and recreational centre of a large territory. It is surrounded on all sides by numerous smaller towns. With the event of better year round roads people will come from all corners to shop and seek recreation here. The people of Wainwright must be prepared to welcome and satisfy their wants if we expect to progress forward.

Many steps in this direction have been made. We have a very modern medical clinic, a large modern hospital under construction, for which the people directly responsible can be duly proud. The town houses the offices of the enlarged Municipal District, the enlarged School Division, including an up to date dormitory. We have here a District Agriculturist, also a representative of the V.L.A.

On our outskirts lies one of the finest army training grounds in Canada, we have ample supplies of natural gas, we enjoy the benefits of a large C.N.R. payroll. To keep pace with all these things, we must provide sewer and water as soon as financially possible. We must have a definite sidewalk and street building program, no matter how small the amount, so much should be built each year. More adequate street lighting is also necessary.

The erection of our Peace Memorial Centre during the coming summer is a must, thus providing much needed recreational facilities.

A mild form of advertising, meaning frequent news briefs and events in our two daily newspapers, will help make people Wainwright conscious.

By creating and improving our utilities in our town, we can encourage more people to take up residence here, in fact we might even encourage manufacturers to favor us with their location.

As I have allowed my name to stand for nomination for councillor, I would like to take this opportunity to tell the electors of Wainwright, if elected, I would strive to have a more progressive town, those steps based on sound reasoning, but remembering we must have more progress in the future than in the past.

With the thoughts of a better, more progressive town in your mind, I will be truly thankful to all those who care to support me in the coming town election.

Yours,
S. H. RYAN
